OPTICIAN Directory2024

Information has never been easier to come by but separating out the intel you really need from the blizzard of balderdash to be found on the web has never been harder.

Retail optics has a unique set of business to business requirements so being able to identify and access the specialist suppliers that meet your needs requires careful searching. All too often a traditional internet search will yield a host of unsuitable and irrelevant suppliers. The Optician Directory is the one place you can be assured of a focus on retail optics, eyewear products and eyewear manufacture.

Within these pages you will find product, company and brand information all indexed and easily linked to put you in touch with a selection of suppliers whose businesses are dedicated to providing you with exactly what you need. Whether you are looking for A+E+L's accountancy services or Zuma's frames you will find it, along with everything in between. Backing that up is a listing of the professional and educational organisations supporting the optical business and profession for those professional queries that arise.

The Optician Directory is delivered to our subscribers annually so find a place on your bookshelf for today's updated copy. You may not need to search for anything today but remember where it lives on the shelf so it is at hand when you need to track down that elusive contact lens, component or consumable.

PROFESSIONAL ORGANISATIONS

ABDO

Unit 2, Court Lodge Offices, Godmersham Park, Godmersham, Canterbury, Kent, CT4 7DT
T: 01227 733905
E: general@abdolondon.org.uk
W: www.abdo.org.uk
Contact: Sir Anthony Garrett CBE HonFBDO

Founded in 1986 the Association of British Dispensing Opticians (ABDO) seeks to maintain and develop the practice of ophthalmic dispensing to the highest standards through the professional conduct and competence of its members for the benefit of the public.

The main objectives of the Association are to support, protect and advance the character, status and interests of dispensing opticians, to encourage suitable standards of education in dispensing optics and establish, continue and adjudicate a system of qualifying and higher examinations. ABDO also enters into arrangements with any authorities that may seem conducive to the interests of ABDO and its members and to provide the legislative, public bodies and others, facilities of conferring with, and ascertaining the views of, persons engaged in the optical dispensing profession.

THE ASSOCIATION OF CONTACT LENS MANUFACTURERS (ACLM)

PO Box 735, Devizes, Wiltshire SN10 3TQ
T: 01380 860418
E: secgen@aclm.org.uk
W: www.aclm.org.uk

The ACLM represents the manufacturers of most prescription contact lenses and lens care products in the UK. It produces the ACLM Contact Lens Year Book, an annual catalogue with technical specifications of all its members' latest products. This is an essential product guide for contact lens practitioners.

It has an elected board, full time secretariat and regular meetings of members, a technical committee and constitutes other sub-groups as required. It works in close cooperation with manufacturers in other countries as a member of Euromcontact. It places great emphasis on collating and producing market statistics, lobbying both Government and European departments and agencies, supporting all forms of contact lens education, training and research, as well as providing a cohesive voice for its members where necessary.

AIO

The Old Rectory, Church Lane, Thornby, Northamptonshire NN6 8SN
T: 0800 1300 486
E: admin@aiovision.org
W: www.aiovision.org
Contact: Lin Ockenden

The AIO is the representative professional body for independent optometrists and dispensing opticians. It is a not for profit organisation that has the following goals:

- Protect and grow the independent Sector within the optical profession
- Provide a real voice with Government and other stakeholders for the independent sector
- Provide a voice for independents within optics through the media
- Promote independent practices to the public
- Help people into independent practice and provide continuing support for those practices
- Be the focal point for all independent sector suppliers, supporters and stakeholders

The annual AIO Conference offers a high quality mainstream clinical and business agenda over two days with a variety of supporting CET events. In addition the last two conferences have featured a new programme designed to help people into independent practice and to support them once they are set up in practice. AIO is also dedicated to helping members with succession planning and retirement.

The range of benefits which AIO membership offers are expanding year by year with the introduction of a range of insurance products being the most recent additions. These products include a new approach to PI Insurance that is practice rather than practitioner based as well as a highly competitive general insurance product for independent practices.

With nearly 15,000 members, the Association of Optometrists (AOP) is the leading representative organisation in the UK for optometrists. Formed in 1946, the AOP is the only organisation that represents both optometry as a profession and the views of individual optometrists. Its core purpose is to provide unrivalled support enabling professionals to deliver high quality eye care with confidence.

Membership of the AOP enables practitioners to practise their profession secure in the knowledge that they will be defended, protected, supported and guided on any issue that affects them in their professional life – from the start of university through to retirement.

The British Association of Behavioural Optometrists is a network of highly qualified and motivated Optometrists, with a specialist interest in how vision affects human performance. Vision and the motor visual system are our primary source for gathering information with 87% of learning occurring through the visual system. Even subtle issues with the visual system can have a major impact on our efficiency and performance, even more so for children where these systems are still developing.

In September 2014 BABO hosted ICBO (International Congress of Behavioural Optometrists) with OEP for the first time in the UK. This was a very successful event and was attended by delegates from 27 countries.

City's Division of Optometry and Visual Sciences combines a longstanding tradition of academic excellence at undergraduate and postgraduate level with a research-active body of academics and PhD students.

Our Optometry BSc/MOptom degree offers a professionally recognised qualification, with students benefitting from cutting edge specialist on-campus facilities and clinical placements at Moorfields Eye Hospital. Students further develop clinical practice by working in our very own state of the art eye clinic, City Sight, where they examine members of the public. 92% of our students said they were satisfied with our course in the 2017 National Students Survey, and 99% are in work or study 6 months after graduating (Unistats). Our new one-year Introduction to Optometry programme offers an introduction to clinical and professional optometric practice, providing students with an alternative entry route onto BSc Optometry at City.

The division also offers a range of postgraduate degrees, as well as Continuing Personal and Professional Development courses including independent prescribing qualifications and College of Optometrists accredited professional certificates in Glaucoma, Contact Lenses, Low Vision, Medical Retina and Paediatric Optometry. Courses are taught by leading UK experts in a dynamic learning environment. City's MSc in Clinical Optometry prepares optometrists to provide enhanced clinical care, and emphasises the co-management of patients and the expansion of the optometrist's role in ocular therapeutics.

W: www.plymouth.ac.uk/courses

Each year since September 2011, 36 undergraduate applicants are accepted on the BSc (Hons) Optometry programme in the School of Health Professions, Plymouth University.

Plymouth University offers a three year degree course, with emphasis on small group teaching to inspire tomorrow's eye care professionals, and practical skills training and placement within all sectors of the industry right from the first term.

With the support of practising optometrists in the South West region, our students are enthusiastically welcomed into local practices for three, 5-day placements which take place at periodic intervals during the first and second year.

The final year of the programme is highly focused on clinical experience. The students spend 80% of the final year in the new Centre of Eyecare Excellence (CEE) located on campus in Plymouth city centre. This state of the art facility opened in January 2013, providing examinations, spectacle dispensing and contact lens care for the student community and beyond.

The teaching team have already scooped an award from the Vice Chancellor for their pioneering initiative, and the Coopervision 2013 national award was made to an undergraduate for her Summer Scholarship research activities.

Successful graduates are eligible to undertake the Final Scheme for Registration with the College of Optometrists, which in turn, allows them to register with the General Optical Council in the UK.
